

Bucy Scholarships for Graduate Study in Physics

The Department of Physics at Texas Tech University offers graduate degrees (MS and PhD) in physics and in applied physics involving interdisciplinary research with other departments, e.g. electrical engineering, computer science, biology, chemistry and mathematics. Interested graduate students at all levels, including the incoming students, are invited to apply. These scholarships are made possible by a gift from Odetta Greer Bucy and J. Fred Bucy, Jr. and cover tuition and fees and also carry a generous annual stipend.
